

STATI UNITI DEL MONDO - UNITED STATES OF THE WORLD

Terra e Pace - Earth and Peace

APPEAL FOR PEACE BETWEEN ISRAEL AND PALESTINE

The United States of the World strongly condemns Hamas's aggression against Israel, as it condemns all aggressions which represent a clear violation of international law, in particular of the Geneva Convention, and which can only lead to a humanitarian catastrophe and above all to distance irremediably every peace project throughout the world.

Civil Society said no to these attacks. He said no because after the tragedy of the Second World War, the result of a degeneration of Darwinism into eugenicism, of the spirit of national freedom into nationalism, of the expansive force of civilization into colonialism, Europe - together with many other countries in the world - has awakened to the values that three centuries of secular conscience had created: human and social rights, peace between nations, dialogue instead of war and collective consent against individual drift. Today the world is full of tyrant governments: but it is especially so where plunder over the centuries has led to the degradation of life, society and politics. We are all responsible for these tyrants and not just those states that supported them for a certain time according to the convenience of the moment and now while they fight one another they ally themselves with the others.

We now want to shake off these responsibilities, revive the UN so that it subjects the arbitrariness of one person to collective decision and so that no one invades, kills, oppresses, impoverishes or offends.

May small states be respected as much as large ones, may the humble have the same dignity as the powerful, may no one assume divine representation and bring massacres on earth in the name of heaven.

That all men are equal, that the riches of the soil especially benefit those who ancestrally inhabit it, that our well-being is not based on the misery of those near or far away. These are the conditions for an end to the terrorism of desperate individuals who sacrifice themselves for the dignity of their homeland and drag with them occasional innocent victims, such as the terrorism of an army that destroys homes, the environment, resources and those who cannot defend themselves from hunting his land.

Dialogue, international law, the spirit of fairness, the strength of compassion are the tools for this millennium, which began with suffering and misery, to be redeemed in an era of solidarity and justice. And these conditions depend on us, civilized men inhabitants of the same earth, who have brought an aggressive modernity to upset the world and now want to transform it into a modernity of reconstruction, solidarity and peace.

The request for dialogue, justice and peace is often undermined by bureaucracy and a lack of political and institutional sensitivity. We appeal to the European Union and its member states, to the UN and to the great powers of the world, to put an end to this senseless policy which, as is known, encourages the denial of the right to exist of which all parties involved in an absurd game of massacre: the Palestinian, Iraqi, Israeli, Lebanese, Ukrainian and many others in the world.

We appeal to international organizations and to all states in the world to urgently intervene to put an end to this unsustainable state of affairs: for the Earth, for Peace.
